Secret Chorus Business

WEDNESDAY 12 JUNE, 2013

MEMBER NEWS

Now that "What'll I do" has a new interpretation we will need to do risers again. Recordings can start this Wednesday and have to be completed by 2nd July (remember school holidays are at the end of June. If you are going away then don't leave it till the last week).

The chorus is looking for someone who could take on music copyright management. If you haven't done anything like this, never fear, you will be given lots of assistance and shown what to do.

The chorus is also looking for someone to work with Deborah in managing our website. If you love working on website management, this is a challenge for you. The chorus needs you!!! Deborah cannot do it alone.

James Dwyer has asked to be relieved of this duty. He has been our webmaster for many years, and we thank him for the wonderful job that he has done out of the kindness of his heart, behind the scenes and often very late at night. We have not had to worry about our website knowing it was in such capable hands. Thanks again, James, for your selflessness in giving so much of your time freely to our chorus.

Just thought you'd like to know ...

As you can see the SCB is now in its new format, thanks to Kate. We have done this specifically to emphasise the "TEAM" (together everyone achieves more) aspect leading up to the Sydney Convention. I would like to ask you all to find a small catch-phrase, slogan or poem that you like about teams or working together that we can make into a banner or collage.

What a wonderful coaching week-end we had!!! Congratulations go to all members for being so responsive, and so ready to embrace any changes that were presented to them as an exciting challenge. It is this attitude that will enable us to follow the chorus's vision of being "creative musicians who inspire with heart, soul and musical excellence".

A particular mention of the bass section has to be made. They have lost two members recently, but have more than stepped up to the mark in both effort and enthusiasm to fill those places. Jenny, congratulations on your leadership.

Deborah has been working overtime in putting recordings of the two coaching sessions onto You Tube. Notes have been sent to all of us of both Betty Clipman's and Karen Breidert's coaching. Print these off and read them. They are wonderful learning tools to help you be a better singer.

Thanks to the girls who provided food on the week-end. As always, we are remarkably well catered for.

Thanks to Inese and Cathy S. for the yummy food that they prepared for Karen and Vicki. It's not easy to cater when you really don't know what people like and dislike. Well done, girls.

Blue Illusion Fashion Extravaganza on this Friday, starting at noon in Beecroft. Other Blue Illusion stores will also give us a cut of the profits if your friends shop in them this Friday.
